SPECIAL TO THE COMMUNITY NEWS
Members of Girl Scouts Texas Oklahoma Plains Council Troop 156 deliver donations from several troops within the Parker County Service Unit to Carolyn Sheman, Director of Parker County Rainbow Room. The Rainbow Room works with Child Protective Services and provides children with needed items like clothes, toiletries, and school supplies when the children are removed from an unsafe setting without enough time to gather their own belongings. Scouts pictured are Sam Moore, Moly Gunn, Caroline Miller, Abby Roark, Tara Tiller and Grace Goeldner.

Students visit Workforce Solutions

Special to The Community News

Students from McAnally Intermediate School recently visited the offices of Workforce Solutions for Tarrant County. They were interested in first-hand knowledge of how they could apply reading, writing, math and science in the workplace. The students met with members of the Business Services, Finance and Technology Departments. The sixth grade class selected Workforce Solutions for their visit largely in part to the students' interest in the "Gotta Jet?" Program, which gives students an overview of the career opportunities within the aerospace industry. The students were very excited to learn what they can start doing as sixth graders to prepare for a career within the Aerospace industry. Renee Parker, Aerospace Cluster Marketing Coordinator for Workforce Solutions for Tarrant County, said, "the aerospace companies who designed 'Gotta Jet?' would be thrilled to see the reaction of the McAnally
